Redwater Town Office reno update

By Grant Cree

The Town of Redwater offices will soon be ready for the public, according to Jason Kilburn, Foreman with Cobra Contracting in Redwater. “We've been in here working on the office upgrades,” said Kilburn. “There's going to be new flooring, new paint, a couple of extra windows and new counter tops.” Reception will stay in the same area, and visitors will see newly constructed counter tops when they meet with Town staff. Outside the main entrance, the concrete sidewalk will be modified to be wheelchair accessible. Kilburn expects the office renovations will be completed in late April.

Smoky Lake Seniors Drop-in Centre Report

By Evelynne Kobes

Happy April, everyone! The Centre's Board held their monthly meeting on Wednesday, April 6. We have more dates for planned events and updates on what I reported to you last month so pull out your social calendars again!

TI reported last month that the St. Paraskevia Ukrainian Catholic Parish generously donated $500 toward a pop cooler. President Vern Billey was able to find and purchase one within a few weeks and thanks to Boris and Vern, the cooler has been installed next to the kitchen area ready for us. Renee Cherniwchan was the first one to use the cooler when the Centre was used for the Old Fashioned Bakery's 50th Anniversary BBQ. Our Pancake Breakfast on St. Patrick's Day was a huge success! Our most-attended breakfast ever with 115 plates served! We collected $435.85 for the Ukraine Twinning Committee to send to Kosiv, Ukraine, and raised money for the Centre. Thank you so much, everyone, for showing up and supporting us!

We will be serving pancakes again, but this time, we are flipping the flapjacks for supper to attract Smoky Lakers who aren't able to attend a Thursday breakfast. Our Spring Fling Family Pancake Supper is scheduled for Thursday, April 28 from 4:00 - 7:00 p.m. The supper will include pancakes, eggs, sausages, and dessert. Adults = $10, Ages 6-12 = $5, Ages 5 & under = Free. For more information about our Spring Fling Supper, please contact our Event Organizer Jeannette Rosichuk at 780-656-5940. The Centre was supposed to host a Crib Tournament earlier this month, but too many of the organizers became sick during the critical organizing period so we were forced to cancel the event. We plan to organize another tournament in the fall so I will let you know if we are proceeding after the summer (Author's note: It's barely spring, but here I am, already community, I am confident you are aware of the value that Branch 251 has been to our community for many years.

March 23, 2022, the members were called to a general meeting chaired by personnel from Command, Alberta. At this stage Branch 251 is facing the reality of closing its doors and having its charter removed. While I could detail what I believe led us to this, laying the blame on any individual or group would be a waste of time. If the branch somehow survives dissolution, there are many internal issues that would require addressing.

To the point, Branch 251 is more than a service to our great community. It is a meeting place, a social center, a facility used by many over the years for so many important events in our community. I believe an integral part in its own way to what makes Redwater such a great place to raise families, work, and create a unique community in a wonderful province.

Branch 251 is more than all I already mentioned. The Royal Canadian Legion is an integral part of Canadian history. It is a reminder of the men and women who served our country from its inception. Many with their very lives.

While the challenge is great for Branch 251, here is the challenge for you. Get the word out. The branch needs new leaders with a vision for the 21st century. Leaders who are willing to challenge the status quo, not to tear down, but to build an amazing opportunity to enrich our community in ways we could never imagine. I ask you to be part of that change in any way you can. Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully yours,
Rev. Tony Pasolli, CD.

"We're just doing maintenance till it warms up outside," said Darren Odynski, Arena Operator with the Town of Redwater. He and two other workers keep busy in the arena before doing maintenance outside as part of the annual spring maintenance cycle. "We can't cut the grass until it dries up and starts growing," said Odynski on April 21. "So right now, we're doing spring clean up and trying to fix things in here that we've been meaning to spruce up." The arena crew plans to get as much done as possible, regardless of the spring and summer weather conditions. "This period of time is usually when we do quite a lot of maintenance,"

he said. "There's stuff we can't do in the winter because we don't have the time or people to do it. Right now, there's no hockey, so our schedule is all the same for now." Odynski noted that the arena crew recently removed the ice, cleaned the pad and side boards, and renovated one corner. "Hopefully, it'll look a little different in the fall."

Leite is planning some in-store renovations so visitors can appreciate an upscale shopping experience. "I'm trying to get it looking like not so much a second-hand store. I want it to look classy," she said. "That's what I'm aiming for."

Both stores are organized into distinct areas for specific items, ranging from books and clothing to DVDs and electronics. "I just cleaned it all off last week because I got a whole bunch of tools," said Leite. "I'm always moving things because all my tools sell fast. I lucked out last week, and now I've got tools."

Her inventory features a plentiful supply of higher-end clothing, including quality baby clothes. "And they're all inexpensive," she said. Noreen and Friend's Attic accepts donations and also does consignment for those wanting to declutter or promote their products.

Career Fair Smoky Lake

School (Lakeland Catholic) and Careers: The Next Generation. The objective was to host a hands-on, try-a-trade Career Fair, exposing students to careers or trades that they may not be well familiar with. Most of the exhibitors were inside, but some, like the Fire Department, were set up in the parking lot so students could experience extinguishing a fire.

There was also the opportunity to try welding in the parking lot. The event was well attended by exhibitors as well as students. A wide variety of trades presented themselves: a local artist had set herself up in the foyer next to a social worker, an environmental company and a training centre focusing on architecture. This latter exhibitor had asked students what they loved about architecture, design and engineering and here is what students had to say: "The fact that you can build anything," "I love designing things that make a person happy," "Designing new fun things," and "You can make so many amazing things." The paramedic's van saw a constant coming and going of students interested in the EMS services. Portage College showcased its enormous diversity of educational choices, sparking the interest of potential students. Students interested in a career as a power line technician could try on the gear and touch electronics.

Aesthetics programs explained why it is essential for students to complete their grade twelve though the programs will admit students as of grade nine. A family physician challenged students to name the bones in the human body and try CPR. Students showed interest in uniformed careers such as the Armed Forces, Fish and Wildlife and the RCMP. So many careers and trades presented themselves that it is impossible to mention them all, but students did not seem overwhelmed. Some had already decided about their future before attending the career fair, whereas others browsed and left the decision to a later date. Karlen Holowaychuk, the junior and senior support teacher at Vilna school, comments: "We evaluate this event with the students two-fold. The first question is: what did you like or dislike, and will you change your mind about your future? The second question is: If you would enter a grade 7 class today, what would you tell them about the career fair? The answers to those questions will help perfect the career fair in future years". Karlen further adds that they tried to focus on local businesses and the area, as they would like kids to stay in their communities. It had been a long time since a career fair was held, and the plan is to make it an annual event that circulates in the region.
