Life in the Heartland

By Grant Cree

“Alberta’s Industrial Heartland is one of the world’s most attractive locations for chemical, petrochemical, oil and gas investment,” said Mark Plamondon, Executive Director of Alberta’s Industrial Heartland Association (AIHA). He hosted a media open house on June 15 to connect with residents following limited activities due to the pandemic.

“The association is guided by a non-profit association of municipalities dedicated to sustainable eco-industrial development,” said Plamondon.

Bellis 4H Beef Club Achievement Day in Waskatenau

Bellis 4-H Beef Club members showed off their animals at Achievement Day. This was a milestone for many of them: for some because they are leaving 4-H after many years, for others because they are just beginning. For all, 4-H is a great learning experience with a lot of fun and camaraderie.

By Irene van der Kloet

June 13 was Achievement Day, an exciting day for the Bellis 4H Beef Club. This is the day these young people have been working towards for the past 12 months, grooming and feeding their animals for the best result. This day they could present their steer or heifer to the public and hear how well they cared for it and fed it. The event was held in the Waskatenau arena, and they could not have asked for a better day with good weather, a barbecue lunch and 14 Bellis 4H Beef Club participants. Many sponsors supported the event, which the club appreciated as, without sponsors, events like this cannot happen. The day was divided into a morning and an afternoon part where young people showed off their animals. The junior champion grooming was Cheyanne Harty with her heifer T-bone from Bellis. Cheyanne is in her third year of 4H and enjoying it. She picked T-bone from her parents’ herd by her cow and worked with her. “We did some grooming workshops,” Cheyanne says, and it shows

Holistic clinic open in Redwater

University TCM Clinic opened in Redwater last August. The holistic clinic provides clients with acupuncture, massage, osteopathy and herbs. Photo by Grant Cree

By Grant Cree

A new holistic clinic opened in Redwater last August at 5303 48 Avenue. University TCM Clinic provides clients with acupuncture, massage, osteopathy and herbs. Their head office is in Edmonton near the University of Alberta campus.

"We wanted to see more and more people get beneficial results from these acupuncture treatments," said Dr. Linda Lin when asked why she opened a clinic in Redwater. "We have a team with so many different therapists."

Dr. Lin noted that although the human body has a self-healing function, sometimes people can't walk alone. In those cases, she suggests acupuncture to stimulate the healing function.

Redwater resident Sandra Walsh had never been to an acupuncturist before last April. "But I had an infection in my leg, and it looked really bad," said Walsh. "I went in feeling very itchy, and I said, is there anything you can do for this? So now it's amazing. My leg went from very dark in colour, just like a huge bruise, and it's almost all gone. I can feel circulation going through there now."

The University TCM Clinic website claims to be "Your local pain specialist team." The clinic has direct billing arrangements for session payments with companies like TELUS Health, Blue Cross and WCB.

"There are so many different insurance companies, and they cover acupuncture treatments if they [patients] have their health insurance," said Dr. Lin. "They just have to check their insurance plan and see if they have coverage."

She added that Alberta Health Services does not provide coverage for acupuncture treatments. "Not yet, but we're working on it," said Dr. Lin. For more information on University TCM Clinic, visit <http://www.universitytcmclinic.com/>.

Based in Fort Saskatchewan, the association is a collaborative 24-year partnership of five municipalities and three associate members. The municipalities are Fort Saskatchewan, Lamont County, Sturgeon County, Strathcona County and the City of Edmonton. The associate members are the towns of Gibbons, Redwater and Bruderheim.

AIHA strives to provide a single approach to promote and facilitate industrial development. Plamondon and his team proactively collaborate on facilitating services and infrastructure for potential partners.

The Heartland is home to Canada's largest hydrocarbon processing centre and covers 582 square kilometres. The economic impact of more than 40 industrial heartland companies is $45 billion in existing investment resulting in $2 billion in annual local spending. This provides approximately 8,000 positions in direct employment and about 30,000 indirect jobs.

"Our competitive

advantages include low-cost feedstock," said Plamondon. "We have the lowest in North America and some of the lowest in the world. Along with world-class infrastructure driving significant foreign investor interest in our region."

Plamondon added that carbon capture utilization and storage, geology and infrastructure will position AIHA as a leader in industrial decarbonization. "We have the potential to grow to a $70 billion jurisdiction by 2030," he said.

for her heifer looks like she just came from the beauty parlour. Lane Fulks from Waskatenau is in his third year of 4H. His heifer Jelly Bean became the Grand Champion in the females. "I would like to go to cattle shows like the Farm Fair and compete there," Lane says. Reserve champion in this category was Alyson Mako-waychuk, for whom it was the first year she was competing in the beef club. During the intermission, the kids could be seen grooming their animals as the grand steers show was to start in the afternoon. The kids' ages ranged from approximately 10 to 17 years old, and it was amazing to see how a 10-year-old could handle a 1200-pound steer., sometimes with a bit of help and support from the more senior club members. They all presented very well, and the judge had difficulty deciding who would win. Still, eventually, she came to a decision: Ellena Senetza, with her steer Butter, was awarded the Grand Champion Market Steer title. "I chose him because he was always curious and playful on pasture, and if you crouched down long enough, he would come and sniff your hand," Ellena says. Lane Fulks with Logan became Reserve Champion Market Steer. "Logan is a Black Angus/Simmenthal. I enjoy spending time with my animals and even fake sick from time to time, so I can stay home and work with my dad on the farm", Lane says. The judge was very thorough in her examination of the animals and explained why she chose the animals for Champion and Reserve Champion. Still, she also had plenty of good to say about the steers that did not make it to that rating. Sometimes, it was a close call. Next year, some of the 4H kids won't return because they are graduating and starting college. For all participants, it was a great day of learning and achieving. For the public, it was a joy to see how well these young people did with their animals.

Redwater and Boyle RCMP arrest suspect after shots fired at gas station

On June 7, 2022, Boyle RCMP received a complaint of a male carrying a firearm. Subsequent investigation revealed that the male suspect fired a shot at a closed gas station and left the area. A description of the suspect and his vehicle was sent to nearby detachments. Shortly after, Redwater RCMP observed a vehicle matching the description and attempted a traffic stop. The vehicle fled and officers pursued. Fortunately, the vehicle ran out of gas within minutes and the suspect was safely arrested without further incident.

Further investigation revealed that the pickup that the suspect was driving had been stolen during the evening from Thorhild County. A search of the vehicle revealed 3 loaded firearms and 5 unloaded firearms all stolen from a residential Break and Enter on June 6, 2022, near Smoky Lake.

RCMP have charged Sonny Ray Giant (40), of Lac La Biche, with 50 offences including firearms offences, possession of stolen property, flight from police, failing to comply with release conditions and failing to comply with weapon prohibition orders.

“This is a great example of two detachments working together to bring a quick and safe end to a dangerous situation”, says Sergeant Jeff Sehn Detachment Commander Redwater RCMP.

Elementary and junior high students enjoyed the story walk put on by the Redwater Public Library. After reading the story, students created their own versions of a short alphabet story.

On June 10, 2022, the Thorhild Central School kindergarten class visited the Thorhild County administration office for a glimpse into County activities, including a close-up look at the technology in Peace Officer Justin Nagy's vehicle and a tour of the building. The rain didn't keep the students from visiting and asking thoughtful and insightful questions.

ABRA Jackpots on Smoky Lake Stampede grounds

By Irene van der Kloet

A barrel racer rounding the barrel, a technique that takes time and practice to master and pays off in a faster time.

The Alberta Barrel Racing Association (ABRA) organizes Jackpots across the province every summer. On May 26 and June 9, these Jackpots were held at the Smoky Lake Stampede grounds, where Smoky Lake Riding Club members were helping keep the scores, setting up and taking down, raking and doing other necessary work to make the evening successful. On these evenings, approximately 30 participants competed in two Jackpot runs per evening. On May 26, there were a total of 46 open entries, ten youth and four peewees. That was a successful evening for the Riding Club as ABRA pays the club for hosting the event, so it's an excellent little fundraiser. On June 9, there was another double Jackpot with 46 entries combined, another great fundraiser for the Riding Club. These Jackpots travel through the province throughout the summer. They are held at the grounds of a local club, but ABRA organizes them, so all a local club needs to do is ensure the grounds are ready and run the event, and they'll receive funding for it. Barrel racing is very popular, especially among women (most if not all participants are women), and children often start at a young age learning how to turn their ponies around the barrels in the fastest way possible, as it is more about a technique that wins the extra millisecond than anything else. The faster you can turn around the barrel, the quicker you can get to the next one and the faster you can bring your horse home. Above all, both evenings were enjoyed by participants and volunteers alike in a friendly and competitive atmosphere. The next item on the Smoky Lake Riding Club agenda is the Stampede on July 30 and 31, with barrel racing and many other spectator events.

Smoky Lake seniors make a field trip to Métis Crossing

About 50 seniors from Smoky Lake participated in the field trip to Métis Crossing and Victoria Settlement. The weather cooperated and everyone seemed to have enjoyed it.

By Irene van der Kloet

On June 10, Smoky Lake seniors were treated to a trip to Métis Crossing and Victoria Settlement by Smoky Lake Family and Community Support Services (FCSS). Rachelle Amyotte, Smoky Lake FCSS program coordinator, had organized this trip in the light of seniors' week (June 6-12). "Seniors' programs are within our mandate, and this was an excellent opportunity to show seniors this beautiful facility here on the North Saskatchewan River," Rachelle says. Seniors from the community and the Bar-V-Nook lodge participated in this trip, 50 in total. Métis Crossing is a new facility on the North Saskatchewan River set up by the Métis people. The facility has a new lodge, an interpretive centre that tells about the Métis culture and many Métis artifacts and is easily accessible for visitors with mobility challenges. It is worth a visit to anyone and aims to become a significant tourist attraction in the region. Upon arrival, the seniors were treated to a lunch, to be followed by a session of Métis crafting with fish scales. One of the lodges at Métis Crossing showed what beautiful art could be made with painted fish scales. A tour of the facility was next on the agenda, after which everyone got back on the bus for a visit to Victoria Settlement, just down the road from Métis Crossing. Métis Crossing keeps a herd of white bison and white elk on land just across the road from the lodge, but unfortunately, they stayed hidden from the visitors. At the Victoria settlement, the visitors were met by two on-site interpreters who told about the history of Victoria Settlement. Whereas not all buildings were easily accessible, the visit was still worthwhile.

After returning to the bus, everyone was treated to a bit of surprise: some goodies, a trivia quiz and a survey of this trip. "We want to know if people liked the trip and what they liked so that we can keep their preferences in mind with future activities," Rachelle added. The survey results showed that the trip was well-appreciated by everyone. FCSS offers a variety of programming for youth and seniors, often in partnership with other agencies. For more information on their programs, email FCSS@smokylake.ca
