HS will no longer require COVID-19 immunization as condition of employment

Alberta Health Services (AHS) is rescinding its Immunization of Workers for COVID-19 Policy, effective July 18, meaning AHS healthcare workers will no longer be required to be immunized for COVID-19 as a condition of employment.

In addition, our new hires and students will no longer be required to be immunized for COVID-19 upon hire or placement.

While vaccines continue to provide strong protection against serious illness, the decision to rescind the policy is the result of emerging evidence that the immunization required by the policy, which is one dose of an approved one-dose vaccine or two doses of an approved two-dose vaccine, has become less protective against infection. The COVID-19 vaccines available to date target the original strain of the virus and the virus has evolved since then.

The AHS policy came into effect at a time when Delta was the dominant variant and the immunization required by the policy was highly effective in protecting the health and safety of workers, patients and the communities that AHS serves by limiting the spread of COVID-19. Current evidence reveals that immunization without boosters has limited effectiveness in reducing transmission of the Omicron variants currently circulating.

“We continue to recommend COVID-19 immunization, including all booster doses available, to all of our healthcare workers as part of our overall approach to protect patients and one another. The safety of our patients and healthcare workers is of the utmost importance to AHS,” said Mauro Chies, Interim President and CEO, AHS.

Healthcare workers have an ethical and professional responsibility to protect others, and we know that immunization is a very effective tool to assist in meeting this standard. Booster doses enhance the effectiveness of initial doses and help protect against waning immunity.

A number of important safety measures remain in place to limit the potential transmission of COVID-19 at our AHS facilities. Our workforce continues to be required to stay home when sick, wear required personal protective equipment and practice hand hygiene.

These evidence-based measures will continue to provide effective tools against the spread of COVID-19 in the workplace. We will continue to closely monitor scientific evidence to assess the need for additional measures.

“We are extremely grateful to all of those healthcare workers who are fully immunized. We would like to thank our key healthcare stakeholders, including our union partners and regulators, for their ongoing support and advocacy for immunization,” said Chies.

“The immunization policy was implemented to protect patients, healthcare workers and the public at a time during the pandemic when the immunization required by the policy was still effective in preventing transmission and when it was needed most to help contain the spread of COVID-19. This was the right policy at the time, and was based on the best evidence available to protect our staff and patients.

“Policies and procedures have had to constantly evolve during the pandemic to reflect significant changes in the virus itself and the ever-changing evidence base as we continue to protect our people and patients.” The COVID-19 vaccine and boosters remain very important in preventing serious illness and deaths from COVID-19. We encourage healthcare workers and all Albertans to review current evidence from reputable sources to make informed decisions about getting immunized.

The kids at the Redwater summer programs enjoyed a few games such as graveyard and red light green light.

47 years of Pioneer Days

Many homemade items were set up at the Radway Pioneer days, including adorable, handcrafted gnomes.

By Myrina Carter

From July 22 to July 24, the Radway Agricultural Society hosted its 47th annual Pioneer Days celebration at the Radway Agricentre. As campers and guests prepared for the fun-awaited weekend, all volunteers were busy preparing for the event. Saturday kicked off with a delicious pancake breakfast, and all lined up to watch the parade make its way through town. Children were busy enjoying themselves on the giant bouncy castle and enjoyed the petting zoo playing with goats, pigs, and all sorts of animals. The morning also started with a bench and quilt show. RAS hosted the bench show, which included beautiful art pieces, photography, and handmade items. Many wonderfully handcrafted quilts were shown off by the Redwater Quilting Guild.

Unfortunately, due to a lack of sign-up, the annual slow-pitch tournament was cancelled, but that did not stop the eventful celebration from happening over the weekend.

A summer market was set up for the community and surrounding area, which included 36 different vendors, some items that were sold: mini gnomes, healing crystals, Australian candies, dog treats, wooden signs, beaded accessories, concrete statues and much more. Car enthusiasts had hot rods, trucks, and cars entered the show and shine, where spectators could vote for their favourite vehicle. The Edmonton Sabers Marching Band put on a demonstration for all consumers to see. Lord Strathcona Horse put on quite the show as well. Attendees were quite intrigued with the antique flour grinding presentation.

Snack foods were available, along with a full concession. The purchase of a $50 ticket included a steak or chicken supper, admission to the dance, and two drink tokens. Doug Bishop and the Hurtin' Horsemen put on a fantastic show with everyone dancing around the area.

Real Canadian Wrestling put on a fantastic show for all the community who attended on Sunday, July 24.

Relentless, Rylie Rose made her Radway debut and excitedly had the crowds cheering!

Neil Halun with RAS quoted, "Thank you all for coming to the Radway Pioneer Days 2022! Most events were Saturday, with RCW Wrestling on Sunday night. The pancake breakfast, bench and quilt show were very well attended! The parade was huge, including a little kid marching band and military horses. The summer market and show and shine were awesome and will be back next year! There was a donation board thanking all the local businesses that helped by donating prizes! No ball tournament this year, but that was no problem as we had more than enough fun entertainment! The kid's activities included a bouncy castle, a petting zoo, and a treasure pit! Lord Strathcona's Horse did the same demonstration at the Calgary Stampede, so it was fantastic we got to see that here in Radway! Thank you to all that helped and made this event a success and to Atco for lending a BBQ and a few sun tents!"

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Swimming lessons at Hanmore Lake

The Redwater Lions Club was the proud recipient of a donation of $1,000 from the Redwater Fossils & Redwater Rockets Mix up Tournament held in April 2022. The Lions club thanks the players for their generous contribution to Charitable activities for the Town of Redwater residents and those in need. Shown in picture is from left to right is Devon Taylor (Redwater Rockets), Rod Clarke (Redwater Fossils, yes, he can still tie his skates), Lion Treasurer Henry Goeckel, Lion Ron Rusinko and "Leo the Lion"

Children enjoy the swimming lessons in the lake. The instructors aim to teach the children in a playful manner, making them comfortable being in the water and enhancing their skills.

By Irene van der Kloet

The third week of July is earmarked as National Drowning Prevention Week. Annually, 400 people in Canada die in water-related preventable incidents. In a country with thousands of lakes, learning how to swim may be considered an essential life skill, and like anything, the younger a person knows how to swim, the better. Smoky Lake Lions Club has organized swimming lessons during National Drowning Prevention Week for children aged 0-12 for 70 years. The lessons occur at Hanmore Lake and are in high demand: for the lessons from July 18-22, 160 children were registered on July 17. Some children return after participating in these lessons in previous years, whereas others take lessons for the first time where they may have to overcome an apprehension around water. The children's progress is recorded in a booklet; if it is missing, the instructors will evaluate the child's skills to determine their level. "We have never had a turnout like this before," Lion Dennis Jonker says. Dennis has been organizing the swimming lessons for many years and had to bring another instructor in - above the four already contracted - to answer the high demand this year. In the lake, instructors prefer to work at a lower ratio than allowed, to enhance safety and keep a better eye on every child. The instructors are all Red Cross certified and love working with the children. "I am also a tennis instructor, and I have learned that children learn better if you play a little game with them, challenge them. It has to be fun for them while they learn simultaneously," Owen, one of the instructors, says. Progress is closely watched by the parents, whom all welcome the nice weather. In the tot's groups, the parents actively participate in the lessons. Many of them don't need to travel far for the lessons as they are camped at the lake campground. Though most children are from the Smoky Lake area, some come from as far as Edmonton. "We are camped here for the week and are taking advantage of this opportunity," one of the parents mentions. Taking swimming lessons in a lake is different from lessons in a pool. The environment is more controlled in a pool, so watching the children is more manageable. In a lake, the weather plays a role in how well the children learn: in the sunshine, it is more fun to be in the water than in pouring rain. The lake temperature can't be controlled; the lake is an open space, you can't see the bottom, and the footing is different than in a pool. Though the weather cooperated with an average of 23-24 degrees and sunshine, some children are chilled from the water but can warm up by the campfire that the instructors made for this purpose. Most really seem to enjoy the lessons. It was a busy week for the instructors, and it was a challenge to put the schedule together with so many children, but they managed well. Smoky Lake Lions Club plans to continue hosting swimming lessons during National Drowning Prevention Week.

In Memoriam

We thought of you today, but that is nothing new.
We thought about you yesterday,
and days before that too.
We think of you in silence,
we often speak your name.
All we have are memories,
and your pictures in a frame.

Your memory is a keepsake, from which we'll never part.
God has you in his arms,
we have you in our hearts.
It's been 8 years since you've been gone,
We've had to learn to carry on.

Redwater Community Services and Redwater HYPE.

Community Services Supervisor Jennifer Edworthy said, "Our goal for this program is for residents to feel that their efforts are not only recognized but essential for fostering community strength, involvement, and continuous improvement. Currently, we have just over 1000 properties in Redwater. It would be amazing to hand out "We've Noticed" cards to every property!

The event has been in the community since 2011. It stemmed from the Town of Redwater participating in the Provincial Communities in Bloom Program and evolving into its annual event just for Redwater. Members of the town have put in a lot of hard work, time, and energy in keeping their lawns nicely cut, flowers planted and flourishing, and keeping up on the maintenance.

Edworthy stated with gratitude, "we would like to thank all the volunteers for helping recognize our great residents for their effort in maintaining their yards. We appreciate everyone's effort and capacity to beautify our community, whether it's simply keeping weeds and lawn under control or exercising their green thumbs on elaborate floral and landscape projects. In addition, thank you to all the Town Staff that maintain our flower beds and grass. Everyone's contributions help make the Town of Redwater a natural home!"
