Egremont celebrates second annual garlic festival

Marcus, Colette, Glen and Linda attend the garlic festival feast for the first time and anxiously await the meal

By Brandie Majeau

On August 26, Egremont Community Club opened the community hall doors, allowing the permeating smell of garlic to waft out into the warm air. The second annual Egremont Garlic Festival celebrated all things garlic. For several days before the event, half a dozen volunteers prepped and created a magical feast of garlic fare for the community to enjoy. While the final count for the meal was not known when the doors opened, the festival chefs stated that they had prepared enough food for eighty people.

Bar-V-Nook celebrates 60 years of senior housing

The celebration of 60 years Bar-V-Nook was held outside in the sunshine. For some it was an opportunity to take a look inside this wonderful facility.

By Irene van der Kloet

On August 8, the Senior's Lodge Bar-V-Nook in Smoky Lake celebrated its 60th anniversary. To celebrate this milestone, a choir consisting of lodge residents kicked off with "Oh Canada." Sharon, the lead singer and speaker, commemorated, "This lodge has been home to many of Alberta's finest. This celebration is like a reset of the vision and purpose of this facility and all it represents. It will continually be revived and reset through everything". With residents, representatives from the town and county and others interested, there were about 60 people present at the celebration, which took place in the sun in front of the main building. Isabella and her dancers from Métis Crossing gave a special cultural presentation with a jigging demonstration. "We are starting with the Red River Jig, which originates from the Red River near Winnipeg and has been the unofficial anthem of all Métis," Isabella explained. "The Jig is a combination of all ancestors, like the French, Irish and Indigenous people." Reeve Lorne Halisky was happy to see a lot of folks there. "It is nice to see folks that I remember from growing up. On behalf of Smoky Lake County, I'm honoured to give my congratulations to Bar-V-Nook. The first building opened in 1963; the lodge opened in June 2018. The facility provides independent

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Discovery Days bench show by one of the entrants. The town received $8,183, or 46%, of grant funding from the South Grow Regional Initiative within their Electric Vehicle Charging Program. The town also applied for grant funding through the Municipal Climate Change Action Centre program; however, because of the popularity of their grant, the funds were unavailable.

Level 2 EV chargers charge at a rate of 20-130 km per hour and take 6-14 hours to provide a full charge. This is compared to Level 1 charges, which charge at a rate of 5-8km per hour and take between 40-60 hours to fully charge, and Level 3 chargers, which charge at a rate of 250-1500 km per hour and require only 15-60 minutes to provide a full charge.

Level 3 chargers have high power requirements and are typically not installed in homes.

The town will be recording statistics now that the chargers are fully operational. According to Garnet Davison, General Manager of Community and Protective Services, “[The town is] looking forward to providing a new service to the Town of Redwater and providing options for both residents and travellers heading north to areas such as Bonnyville, Cold Lake and Fort McMurray or travellers on their way south to Edmonton, etc.”

Other green initiatives the town has completed in the past few years include a lighting upgrade at the arena in 2021, moving from metal halide to LED lighting. At the same time, they reduced cooling costs with a ceiling replacement. Town staff are researching green fleet options and green options for the Zamboni. Davison stated, “However, the town will not be jumping to replace equipment until it is required or as set out in our 10-year capital plan.” Davison explained that several green grant options are available for the fleet, and the town continues to explore these. Davison added, “The Town of Redwater would like to express their appreciation to both the MCCAC and South Grow Electric Vehicle Charging Program for their ongoing support of green initiatives through generous funding, helpful responses, advice, and their streamlined application process. Without their programs and assistance, options would be limited for small rural municipalities and communities.”

Street fair and community showcase

The Community Showcase and Street Fair attracted a continuing crowd between 4:00 and 8:00.

By Irene van der Kloet

After the first street fair at the beginning of summer, Smoky Lake decided to hold another one on a bigger scale: On August 23, the Street Fair and Community Showcase was held, a coordinated event between FCSS and the Smoky Lake Chamber of Commerce. This is an excellent opportunity for small businesses, primarily home-based and community groups, to present themselves. “We did not know what the weather would do; there was rain in the forecast. Initially, we had planned to organize it downtown on Wheatland Avenue and White Earth Street. Still, this morning, we decided to avoid the risk of people getting wet and move it to the complex”, Rachelle Amyotte, FCSS program coordinator and responsible for the Community

Showcase part of this event, explained. “It meant I had to make a few quick decisions: normally, food vendors are set up in front of their businesses like the Smoky Lake Inn did last year. Now that we moved everything inside, I got food from Anderson’s Supermarket, Bigway, and the sandwiches from the Smoky Lake Inn, which worked out great”. Though the event ran from 4:00 to 8:00, no one attending needed to go hungry: there was a variety of sandwiches, vegetables and fruit, as well as water and coffee, all paid for by FCSS. The concept was well thought through, as businesses and groups were mixed, so community groups and vendors got equal exposure to the public. In the centre of the main hall, some round tables were set up for the public to sit and relax and enjoy the music, which made for a pleasurable event in a relaxing atmosphere while, in the meantime, the rain was pounding on the roof. The decision to go inside was a good one, after all. People came and went and visited because, besides groups and vendors showcasing themselves, events like these are very much a social event and an opportunity to catch up on what is happening in the community. Though this summer full of events – among which the 40th Stampede – is coming to an end, there is more coming up in the fall: The new H.A. Kostash school will open with a New School Tour for anyone interested on August 31; the Harvest Hustle Barrel Racing events on four Sundays in September, starting on September 3rd; Truth and Reconciliation Day on September 30; and the Smoky Lake Pumpkin Fair in the first weekend of October.

Continued from page 1 attendees and a sure way to clear the sinuses and boost the immune system. As the buffet was unveiled, garlic enthusiasts were treated to a meal beyond comparison. Starters included not only roasted garlic but Caesar salad and garlic soup as well. The main courses consisted of meatballs and head cheese, accompanied by sides of garlic toast, mashed potatoes, carrots and corn on the cob-of course, all served with a healthy dose of garlic incorporated into the seasonings. No meal of this magnitude would be complete without dessert. As a final complement to the Garlic Festival, garlic ice cream and cheesecake completed this gastronomic delight. Guido Garlic was a welcoming mascot, mingling himself with the guests and delighting the children with games and play on local swings, trampolines and an old-fashioned merry-go-round. The evening carried on with the live musical performance of Larry Bucholz. Larry Purschky was thrilled that the event was bigger than last year and hopefully showed a trend that it would continually grow every successive year. As the amazing talents of the volunteer cooks also continue to grow with their innovation in all things garlic, the final serving may have to become a package of mints.

Once again, the Egremont Community Club Hall hosted a wonderful Garlic Harvest Dinner. The organizers expressed their gratitude to everyone who attended and extended a special thank you to the Egremont Community Club for their continued hospitality in hosting such a fantastic event.

PUBLIC HEARING - Bylaw 1624/23
Amendment to Land Use Bylaw 1385/17

Sturgeon County Council requests public input on proposed Bylaw 1624/23.

The property owner would like to operate an event venue on their land at 26127 Highway 633 (legal land description: NW-11-54-26-4). This land is zoned as AG - Agriculture, which does not allow this type of activity.

Public Hearing details

The Public Hearing will be held in person and via videoconference on: Tuesday, Sept. 12, 2023, at 1:30 p.m. (or as soon as practical thereafter) Sturgeon County Council Chambers (9613 100 St. in Morinville) sturgeoncounty.ca/CouncilMeetings

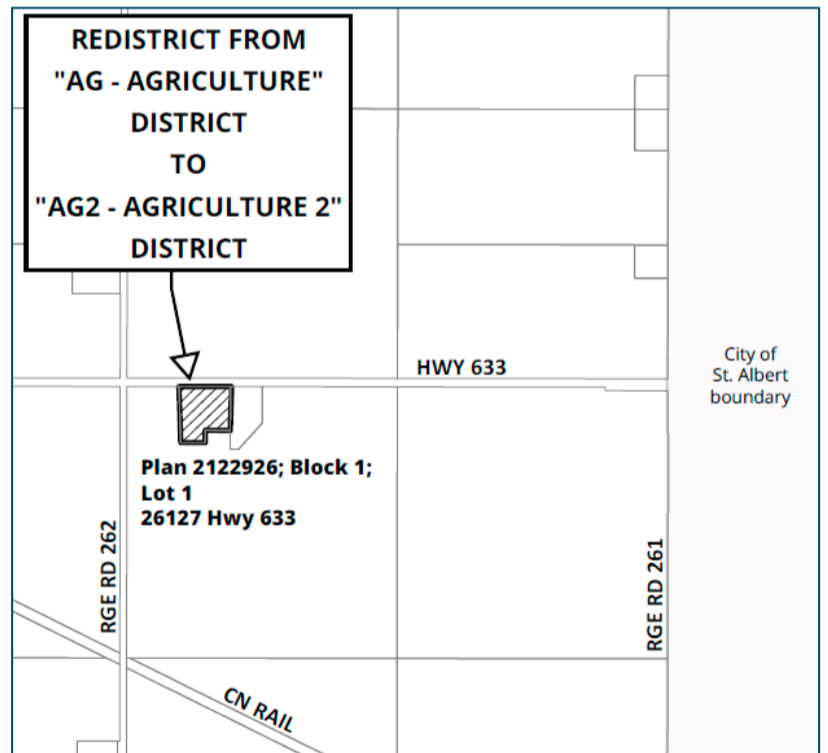

To operate an event venue in Sturgeon County, land must be zoned as AG2 - Agriculture 2 District. The applicant is requesting the land be rezoned from AG - Agriculture to AG2 - Agriculture 2 District. If successful, they could apply to develop an event venue.

Each time land is rezoned, a bylaw is needed to amend the Land Use Bylaw and a public hearing must be held.

 and resident care. The name "Bar-V-Nook" is the Ukrainian name for the periwinkle flower, which is the facility's logo. We are very fortunate to have a facility like this in our community. It provides great care for seniors close to their family and friends". Marianne Procki-Zarusk spoke on behalf of the Town of Smoky Lake. "Greetings on behalf of all of the Town Council. Council is committed to preserving, improving and expanding affordable housing in this town", she added. Jared Serben, Board Chair of the Bar-V-Nook board, added that "today we are here to celebrate a milestone in the community. Together, we can create a future that honours the past and offers opportunities. Congratulations." Therese Taschuk, MC, started at Bar-V-Nook as a general aid but has been the facility activities coordinator for some time. She closed the ceremony with one last song, cake and coffee. This facility deserves a look inside for those who have that opportunity. The entrance is spacious and modern, with abundant daylight, making it a welcoming space. Hallways are wide and light. The apartments have everything a person may need. Some are bigger, others a little smaller, but they share a view of the surrounding area through oversized windows. A new resident giving a mini-tour to a few interested parties refers to it as a welcoming, positive environment with everything a person could wish for. "If I want company, I go to the recreation room to do a puzzle, play cards or do something else. If I want to be alone, I stay home". Striking is the deck, which has a view of the surrounding residences and a distant view of the rolling hills that surround the north side of Smoky Lake. A welcoming atmosphere breathes throughout the facility, an asset for Smoky Lake.

A view from one of the apartments onto the courtyard shows a modern, well-maintained complex entirely focused on resident care.

New pumpjack suits town history

By Falon Fayant

There's a new feature along 48th Avenue to catch the eye as people drive into town. The red and black pumpjack was refurbished in 2022 and has replaced the community electronic events sign. The sign has been removed from the town's assets. According to Diane Pysmeny, General Manager of Corporate Services, "[The sign] was 10 years old, and technology moves so fast that fixing the sign was cost prohibitive, and Council wanted to move to a new concept in the future at a different location." An announcement of the new concept will be forthcoming when funding becomes available.

"We understand that [it] was a valuable sign for communications; however, until funding is available, a replacement is not scheduled at this time," Pysmeny explained further.

Instead, Council decided the area would be a fitting location for the pumpjack, and it was also more cost-effective. The sandblasting cost $3,500 from the park's maintenance budget. The pumpjack fits in with the town's history as well, with the discovery of oil in 1948. Prior to that, Redwater was a small farming community.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Editor,

I want to express my thanks and appreciation for your publication.

I am originally from the Newbrook area and attended school in Newbrook from grade one until we were centralized to Thorhild where I completed grades 11 and 12. I live in Penticton, BC, but I enjoy reading the Review online.

I really enjoyed the article about the Newbrook Observatory in the August 16 edition. Kudos to the Newbrook Historical Society and the Thorhild County as they endeavour to restore this site to become a place people would like to visit. I am curious as to when it is open. I can't wait to see it!!

Best Regards,
Connie (Turko) Kiefiuk

How farmers can reduce financial risk

(NC) Farming is becoming more and more unpredictable with the constantly changing environment. Managing the impacts of climate change, fluctuating weather, crop and livestock disease, high input costs and low commodity prices, makes farming a risky business. But there are programs out there that can help.

AgriStability is one program that may help if you face declines in farming income due to production loss (from weather or disease), increased costs or market conditions. The program, which is funded by federal, provincial and territorial governments, offers protection for your whole farm at an affordable rate, so you can receive payments in times of financial distress.

It is part of a group of business risk management programs to help farmers manage risks from severe market downturns and disaster situations. It's delivered by the federal government in Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Labrador, and Yukon, and provincially everywhere else.

To qualify, you must have farmed for at least six straight months during the program year, reported your farming income (or loss) to the Canada Revenue Agency for tax purposes, and completed (or attempted to complete) a production cycle during the program year. Individuals, co-operatives and corporations are all eligible. To participate, simply enroll by the deadline, pay your fee and submit your program forms after completing your fiscal year.

Early expectations for lower crop yields amid dry weather

By ATB Financial Team

Dry conditions in the central-east and south parts of the province are expected to weigh on crop yields in Alberta this year. Two recent reports highlight that yields for most crops are expected to drop from last year's record levels based on early estimates.

In the Government of Alberta's latest crop report (August 22), recent rains in some areas of the province improved crop conditions slightly. However, the share of crops rated 'good to excellent' held steady from the previous report at around 43%, below the 5-year average of 57%. The share of crops rated in this category ranged from 25% in the driest areas (well below the 5-year average of 50% for the area) to 62% in the best region (closer to the 5-year average of 64% for this area). The report's latest crop yield estimates are at 86% of the past five years. Statistics Canada's latest model-based estimates for crops were released Tuesday. According to these estimates, wheat and barley production in Alberta are expected to drop by 16% and 15%, respectively, this year from the bumper production in 2022. Canola production is estimated to be 1.2% lower than 2022 levels, while oats and lentils are projected to be down by over a third. Despite these declines, Statistics Canada expects production to remain well above 2021's depressed levels. These are preliminary estimates, with Statistics Canada noting final estimates will not be available until December 3. Some crop farmers will face a challenging harvest, which will impact farm cash receipts throughout the balance of this year and until 2024's harvest.

Canadian consumers seek out sustainably produced food

(NC) As many Canadians are interested in sustainably produced food, various agricultural industries and farmers are embracing practices that meet the demands of conscientious shoppers. The strawberry industry is a prime example of the strides made in agriculture in pursuit of sustainability.

There is high demand for strawberries in Canada – in fact, far more than domestic production can supply. Almost 100 per cent of strawberries imported into Canada come from California, allowing us to enjoy this favourite berry year-round.

These strawberries are grown on multi-generation farms with sustainable techniques to minimize environmental impact. For instance, farmers prioritize hand weeding to reduce the need for chemical herbicides, use mechanical bug vacuums that effectively remove harmful insects (which reduces reliance on pesticides), release beneficial insects like ladybugs as a primary defense against pests and opt for fish emulsion as a natural alternative to chemical fertilizers. The California strawberry industry also invests millions of dollars into crop research, leading the world in environmental research dedicated to reducing pesticide use.
