By Brandie Majeau

Robert Manolson has been a recent guest to Redwater not once, but twice within a short period of time. Manolson is a Certified Career Development Professional and business owner of Powerful Play Experiences, Positive Workplace Mental Health...For Teams! In his own words, Manolson builds on the belief that "we all need more fun at work". He is dedicated to initiating open and supportive dialogues about improving mental health in the workplace. Additionally, he is committed to promoting team building through dynamic, play-centered workshops aimed at enhancing learning experiences.

On February 14th, during the Redwater Community Business Meeting, Robert Manolson was initially approached to deliver a presentation. His approach to presenting on that day was influenced by the fact that he was meeting the attendees for the first time, which led him to adopt a relaxed and inclusive attitude. "I'm more of a Workshop Facilitator, so I need to first read the room before I properly engage with everyone," Manolson explained. His willingness to invite input and feedback from all the attendees created an environment where an assortment of non-traditional business topics, including better mental health at work, could

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Creating Safer Communities

By Brandie Majeau

The Safer Communities and Neighbourhoods (SCAN) unit plays a crucial role in enhancing community safety by utilizing civil legislation to address ongoing illegal activities in both rural and urban areas of Alberta. This specialized unit targets problematic residential and commercial properties where specified illegal activities occur regularly, aiming to address and mitigate these issues to create safer and more secure neighborhoods for residents.

This unit is focused on addressing issues such as drug activity, prostitution, and gang-related crime. SCAN is responsible for ensuring that property owners are held accountable for any illegal activity taking place on their premises. Additionally, it provides support to landlords by assisting them in removing problematic tenants who are causing disruptions in neighborhoods and damaging property. This unit serves as a valuable resource for communities across Alberta, initiating investigations based on tips from citizens and collaborating with residents to enhance safety measures.

When a community member reports a problematic property to SCAN, the Safer Communities and Neighbourhoods unit will initiate an investigation. This investigation will involve gathering evidence to confirm the reported activity. Subsequently, the investigators will reach out to the property owner to address the issue through informal means, such as mediation or advising on corrective actions.

SCAN operates under the Safer Communities and Neighbourhoods \(SCAN\) Act to target properties, not people.

Signs of illegal activity

If a property is being used for illegal activity you may notice some common signs.

Seeing one of these signs doesn't always mean illegal activity is going on, but if they happen often or together, a problem may exist.

Some common signs of illegal activity include:

- frequent visitors at all times of the day and night
- frequent late night activity
- extensive home security
- residents that are rarely seen, distant or secretive
- windows blackened or curtains always drawn
- neglected property and yard
- people repeatedly visiting the property who only go to the door for a short time

Back to top

If informal efforts to address issues are ineffective, SCAN has the authority to seek a Community Safety Order (CSO) from the courts. This order can require property owners to comply with a set of conditions, or in more severe cases, result in the closure of the property for a period of up to 90 days. It is important to note that SCAN employs civil legislation to address issues related to properties, not individuals. In the event of any criminal activity being discovered during these interventions, SCAN promptly refers the matter to the police for further investigation.

Safer Communities and Neighbourhoods (SCAN) is an invaluable initiative that aims to engage and empower citizens in contributing to the safety and security of their communities. By providing a confidential platform for reporting suspicious activities, SCAN enables community members to play an active role in identifying and addressing potential problem areas. It is important to note that SCAN does not focus on singling out individuals; rather, it encourages collective vigilance and cooperation in identifying signs of suspicious or illegal activities that may compromise community safety. Reports can be submitted by calling the toll-free number 1-866-960-SCAN or by visiting the provided website www.alberta.ca/report-suspicious-property.

This proactive approach not only enhances community safety but also fosters a sense of shared responsibility and unity in safeguarding neighborhoods.

Getting to know who grows your food

(NC) From berries and peaches to beans and field greens, summer means many of Ontario's fruit and vegetable crops are now in season.

A great way to learn more about how those crops are grown – and by whom – is by shopping at local farmers' markets or stopping in at an on-farm market and chatting directly with the farmers themselves.

One of the more remarkable things you can learn is that along with thousands of local farm families and employees, Ontario's fruit and vegetable farms employ approximately 20,000 international farm workers who fill essential jobs growing and harvesting the homegrown produce

Ontarians love.

Many of these workers have been coming here for years or even decades – attracted by jobs through the Seasonal Agricultural Worker Program and the agriculture stream of the federal Temporary Foreign Worker program that are helping them build homes, start businesses and send their kids to school in their home countries.

And, Ontario farmers like Luke Charbonneau of Hi-Berry Farm near Port Elgin are eager to hire them, as agriculture has long had one of the highest vacancy rates of any sector in the country.

"This is a skilled workforce who have been coming here for 20 years. They know our business and know our operation. We certainly wouldn't be farming without them," he says. "We've become friends, have found out about their families and what motivates them to come here to Canada. They love their country. But they're here for a reason – to make a better life for their whole families."

Daniel Morales from Mexico has been working at Charbonneau's farm for more than a decade, arriving in spring for planting and going home in November after the last crops, from asparagus and strawberries in spring to cabbage and potatoes in the fall, have been harvested.

"I came to work here because for me, it is a great opportunity to learn new experiences and support my family," he says. "Canada has been a country that opens its doors to us, and the people are very friendly. They wait for us every year and welcome us as if it is our second home."

be openly discussed. He then posed a question: "I'm here for you today. So, what do we want to talk about and walk away with?"

Manolson offers a personal perspective and intimate understanding when dealing with mental illness, living with and managing his own depression and anxiety enables him to connect on a deeper level. His unparalleled ability to create a relaxed and fun atmosphere creates an informal setting like a chat over coffee. Everyone was open to starting a conversation on the importance of better mental health at work with plenty of encouragement to participate and share their perspectives on the topic.

Robert Manolson is known for his remarkable ability to infuse his unique personality into any event he hosts. His approach is characterized by a subtle yet powerful influence that allows natural, organic conversations to unfold. Leveraging his skill in creating a relaxed and inviting atmosphere, he successfully brings people together to address the crucial topic of mental health in the workplace. Manolson demonstrates a deep understanding of the individual circumstances of each participant, taking into account their concerns regarding mental health and their personal interactions within the workplace. With a focus on play-based team building, his approach aims to unearth the inner child within each individual, fostering a sense of joy and camaraderie. Furthermore, he views each professional engagement as an opportunity for genuine dialogue and connection. Rather than speaking to an audience, he seeks to engage in meaningful conversations with them. His only request is that each participant "brings their smiles, brings their happy", and a willingness to embrace fun. The outcome of this approach is not a definitive resolution, but rather a rich exchange of ideas and perspectives that may be considered and potentially implemented in the future.

After the successful presentation at the Redwater Community

Business Meeting, Robert Manolson was approached by the Redwater & District Chamber of Commerce to host their recent Career & Job Fair. He accepted the opportunity to assist with career development and engage in a presentation on interview skills. His approach to hosting the career fair was to work the room, connect with people, hear their stories, encourage interaction between the vendors and potential employees, offer advice, and simply be there to make personal connections.

Redwater was incredibly fortunate to have the expertise of Robert Manolson in facilitating these recent events. His exceptional talent for bringing people together in a natural and organic manner, without relying on predefined plans or a formal program, truly made the events memorable and successful. His ability to create a sense of unity and collaboration among the participants was truly remarkable, and his skill in fostering an environment where everyone felt included and engaged was truly invaluable. # Small ways you can nurture communities through local shopping

(NC) Supporting local businesses is more important than ever. The onset of the pandemic forced many Canadians to witness the direct impact of their spending after watching numerous small businesses close their doors. Now, Canadians understand that supporting local businesses is vital in helping generate revenue that stays within their communities.

If you're interested in supporting local and don't know where to start, here are some small ways you can support your community today.

1. Order takeout or delivery directly from the restaurant

It can be tempting to use food delivery services when looking for something to eat. But ordering directly from the restaurant - and picking it up instead of having it delivered - will put a lot more of your money into the restaurant itself, and your hometown Mom and Pop shops will thank you for it.

2. Take the guesswork out of shopping local

There are plenty of tools to help us become better shoppers. An app like One Red Maple helps you find your favourite everyday items in locally owned stores, so you don't have to turn to big box chains. They also have a browser plug-in that lets you shop any e-commerce site and real-time price and product compare between chain and local stores.

3. Recommend locally owned hot spots

Word of mouth is always a great way to build trust in a business. If you enjoy an experience, talk about it. A post on your social channels or leaving a great review also goes a long way. Your peers are more likely to try a restaurant or coffee shop if they know it's been vouched for by someone they know. It's also a great way to support local if you don't have a lot of disposable income to spend - words are free, after all.

Small businesses are often seen as the lifeblood of communities and supporting them in simple and affordable little steps can offer more help than we realize.

Sturgeon County Council's regular meeting

Here are the highlights from Sturgeon County Council's regular meeting on March 26, 2024.

Public Hearing | Redistricting for Relocation of Business on Adjacent Land

Council held a public hearing for Bylaw 1645/24 to redistrict approximately 15.2 hectares (37.7 acres) of land at SW-27-57-25-4 from AG-Agriculture district to I3-Medium Industrial Unserviced district, and IR - Industrial Reserve district to I3 - Medium Industrial Unserviced district within the approved Legal Crossroads Area Structure Plan. This would support the relocation of Eco-Flex, a local manufacturing company, which operates on an adjacent parcel. Council will consider the presentations and submissions at the public hearing and will make a decision at a future

Council meeting. Public Hearing | Redistricting for Outdoor Recreation Opportunities

Council held a public hearing for Bylaw 1642/23 to redistrict 48.5 hectares (120 acres) of land near Calahoo from AG - Agriculture district to REC - Recreational district. The applicant - the West Sturgeon Agricultural Society - wants to pursue recreational developments including walking and cross-country ski trails in the near term and flexibility to add additional recreational uses in the future. Council will consider the presentations and submissions at the public hearing and will make a decision at a future Council meeting.

Assessment and Taxation Update

Council directed administration to prepare the 2024 Taxation Rates Bylaw, which will reflect a tax rate increase of 1.37 per cent when brought forward to Council on April 9. This is a reduction from the preliminary tax rate set of 2.13 per cent in December. Since that time, there were increased assessment values and an operating surplus from 2023, which enabled a lower tax rate increase.

Council also approved the 2024-25 capital budget amendments, and approved a funding increase of $786,000 to purchase a fire aerial apparatus.

Amendment to Public Open Space and Environmental Preservation Districts

Council passed Bylaw 1647/24 to amend the Public Open Space (POS) and Environmental Preservation (EP) districts to provide greater clarity between those and the Recreational (REC) district. This clarification is in response to a growing number of applications related to recreational activities and public concerns regarding the number of uses considered in the REC district. In response to public input received during the public hearing process, the bylaw was amended to reflect both public and private spaces. View the approved changes.

2024 Subsidized Dust Suppression Program

Council approved the 2024 subsidized dust suppression program, which includes fully subsidized treatments in front of specified residences and partial subsidy at $205 per residence for select areas. The County applies dust suppression each year along designated haul routes and offers dust suppression at a subsidized rate to other residents.

County Bounty

Due to road construction in Cardiff Park in summer 2024, Council directed administration to relocate County Bounty - a two-day family-friendly event celebrating the Sturgeon County community - to the Canadian Forces Base Edmonton on July 11 and 12. This would only be for 2024 only. If unavailable, administration will look to host the event at Sturgeon Composite High School. Information will be shared at sturgeoncounty.ca/county-bounty.

Manufactured Homes Assessment

Council passed Bylaw 1640/23, which brings the approach to property assessment for designated manufactured home communities into compliance with the Municipal Government Act. This bylaw designates the owner of a manufactured home community as the assessed person for a designated manufactured home in the community.

Sheltering Stray and Unwanted Cats and Dogs

Council directed administration to extend the contract with the Edmonton Humane Society (EHS) on a month-to-month basis for kennel services and temporary holding for cats and dogs. Sturgeon County does not have a holding facility for stray and unwanted dogs and cats, and transfers these animals to the EHS to care for these animals until they can be claimed or rehomed.

Trail and Landscaping Maintenance

Council deferred discussion about the trail and landscaping maintenance service levels as it relates to homeowners associations to April 9.
