Redwater Legion shares a cup of coffee

By Brandie Majeau

The Redwater Legion hosts a morning coffee on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings. They welcome everyone to come down and spend the morning talking about everything and nothing, all at once. It is a place to meet with friends and make connections. Coffee groups are a fantastic way to fight loneliness and enhance a social network of support and belonging. Research shows that people who are more socially connected are at a reduced risk of depression and anxiety. On the other hand, those who are more isolated and lonely are at an increased risk of cognitive impairment, including dementia and Alzheimer's disease.

As individuals age, the need for social interaction becomes even more vital.

Being part of a group allows for the pooling of resources and mutual support.

Additionally, isolation can contribute to various physical ailments such as heart diseases, strokes, and Type 1 diabetes, and it is linked to an increased risk of premature mortality. Regular social engagements can provide structure and comfort, giving older adults something to look forward to and anchoring their days or weeks.

Redwater Legion's morning coffee group is not just about the health benefits. It's a unique gathering that holds a special place in its history, rooted in the tradition of sharing a good cup of coffee.

During challenging times and when far from home, it's often the little things that matter the most. For soldiers, a cup of coffee holds a special place. It has been a staple in U.S. military rations since 1832. While Canadian troops favored tea due to their British rations, the Korean War impacted Canadian soldiers and their preference for American foods, including coffee. Coffee was more than just a pick-me-up for soldiers, sailors, and aircrew working long hours. It also served as a social centerpiece, bringing people together for brief but memorable moments of relaxation and camaraderie. Whether they were in the field, on watch, or in the air, those serving in challenging and confined environments cherished the opportunity to enjoy a hot cup of coffee and engage in conversation.

It was coffee—coffee for breakfast and dinner, coffee for breaks, coffee they longed to have. Coffee was familiar, comforting,

The World commemorates the 80th anniversary of D-Day

By Brandie Majeau

On June 6, 2024, history witnessed a pivotal moment as the world came together to commemorate the 80th Anniversary of D-Day. Initially scheduled for June 5, 1944, the operation had to be delayed for 24 hours due to unfavorable weather conditions.

Eventually, shortly after midnight on June 6, 1944, courageous paratroopers descended into German-occupied France, laying the groundwork for the imminent invasion.

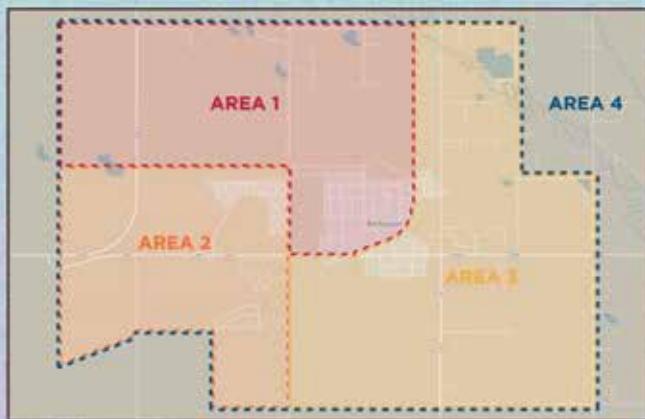

As dawn broke, Allied planes and warships unleashed a relentless bombardment, paving the way for troops to storm the beaches.

As part of the Municipal Development Plan review and update, A survey has been created to help identify how residents envision the town's future, and what key issues and opportunities the town currently faces. Your input will help set the direction for the project and inform potential revisions to the Municipal Development Plan. The survey will be open from May 20 to June 15, 2024

The operation saw troops landing on a 50-mile coastline divided into five code-named beaches: Gold, Juno, Omaha, Sword, and Utah.

Omaha and Utah were entrusted to the Americans, Gold and Sword were under British command, and Juno was the responsibility of the Canadians.

The sacrifices made on that fateful day were profound, with 4,414 Allied troops laying down their lives. Despite the heavy toll and the prolonged struggle to liberate the strategically crucial city of Caen, the landings were hailed as a success. This monumental event marked the beginning of the end for Hitler and Nazi Germany.

The sheer scale and significance of the invasion have etched it into the collective consciousness. It served as a turning point in the war, capturing the public's imagination with its dramatic magnitude. From the moment the troops stormed the beaches on D-Day, World War II in Europe unfolded as a relentless battle until Germany's eventual surrender. The human need to comprehend such profound events is met by the power and significance of D-Day, providing a wealth of compelling stories that continue to resonate.

As time passes, there is a growing awareness of the swift passage of this generation. It is crucial to preserve their stories and honor the memories of those who rest at Normandy, as well as those who bravely fought and survived. As these veterans are aging, it is becoming increasingly important to ensure that their stories are not lost with them.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Radway Library celebrates its patrons with a spring tea

By Brandie Majeau

As winter slowly loosens its grip and makes way for the arrival of spring, the natural world undergoes a breathtaking metamorphosis. Delicate blossoms unfurl, painting the landscape in a kaleidoscope of vibrant hues, while the sun's gentle warmth breathes new life into every living creature. This transformation infuses the air with a palpable sense of rejuvenation, awakening the senses to the splendor of the season. It is a time to revel in the bountiful gifts of nature and to immerse oneself in the symphony of sights, sounds, and aromas that herald the arrival of spring. Amidst this wondrous spectacle, the simple act of sipping a steaming cup of tea becomes a ritual of celebration, embracing the earthy notes and comforting warmth that mirror the essence of this remarkable season. This connection to nature and each other was artfully caught by Radway Public Library, capturing the spirit of renewal and awakening that defines spring. The Radway Public Library, a heartwarming hub of community connection and empowerment, recently organized a delightful Spring Tea event. The atmosphere at the library was electric with the sound of joyous laughter, animated conversations, and the clinking of teacups as friends from all corners of the community gathered to celebrate these friendships and honor their senior patrons. The wonderful members of the Radway Readers Society poured their hearts into orchestrating the occasion, treating guests to a delectable array of treats and an impressive assortment of door prizes, adding an extra layer of excitement to the festivities. The library wishes to express its gratitude to the County of Thorhild for their generous contribution of a beautifully crafted cake, which was the "icing on the cake" to the event. Furthermore, the library extends a warm thank you to everyone who took the time to join in and partake in the warmth and delight of this memorable day.

Local student wins Peace Poster achievement award

By Brandie Majeau

For the past thirty years, Lions Clubs worldwide have been organizing and supporting an extraordinary art contest in schools and youth organizations. This unique initiative not only gives children from all corners of the globe the opportunity to showcase their interpretations of peace but also connects them to a global community of young artists. The 2023-2024 contest theme was "Dare to Dream," inviting students to design posters that challenged them to envision a world characterized by peace, offering a platform for them to express their hopes and beliefs.

The Radway Lions Club was honored to bestow an achievement award on Paityn Heppell, a truly exceptional and talented grade 8 student from Thorhild Central School.

Her remarkable poster submission, which drew inspiration from the thought-provoking quote, "An eye for an eye makes the whole world blind," captivated the audience with its creativity and profound message. Heppell's outstanding vision and artistic talent, unique to her, shone through in the impactful and meaningful design of her poster.

The Radway Lions Club is thrilled to celebrate the active participation of the local youth in the International Peace Poster Contest over the past year. They wholeheartedly congratulate Paityn Heppell for her exceptional dedication and remarkable achievement, and they are truly proud to share her success with the community!

Lions International is eagerly looking forward to the upcoming 2024-2025 year.

The organization is excited to announce the theme for its new poster, "Peace Without Limits". With this powerful theme, Lions International aims to encourage students to share their vision of a world where peace is not just a distant dream but a fundamental necessity. The organization is eager to see the creative and insightful posters that students will produce, illustrating the infinite potential for compassion and unity in a world where the pursuit of peace knows no boundaries.

and strengthening, and it became routine and normalcy amid the chaos of war.

Union soldiers during the Civil War were allotted 36 pounds of coffee every year.

They brewed their daily coffee using water from canteens and muddy puddles, even from brackish bays and the Mississippi River, fluids so unappealing that even their horses refused to drink them. The soldiers relied on coffee before and after marches, while on patrol, and even during combat. This ritual and warmth fostered camaraderie and provided much-needed boosts of energy, a break, and a simple reprieve.

While Redwater Legion does not find itself at the center of a battle, it brings home the sense of closeness and community that comes from wrapping hands around a hot cup of coffee and sharing a togetherness three mornings a week.

Monday Municipality Matters looks at sewer auguring

By Brandie Majeau

The Town of Redwater has recently been discussing sewer maintenance. As a municipality, it is important for residents to understand that while sewer issues can be inconvenient, the town aims to clarify responsibilities, after-hours call-outs and fees, and provide guidance on when it is necessary to call a plumber.

When it comes to sewer auguring, it's essential to understand the division of responsibilities. Municipal responsibilities include maintaining and repairing main sewer lines under public streets and alleys or any issues on public property. Responsibilities to residents are maintaining and repairing sewer lines from their property to the main sewer line or any issues on private property.

The response to sewer backups is outlined in Utility Maintenance Policy #503.1.

After-hours call-outs for sewer issues are available if the problem occurs outside regular business hours. Residents can report emergent issues to the municipality's regular line and will be connected with on-call staff. A staff member will assess the situation to determine the cause and location of the problem. The issue will be promptly addressed if it is within the municipality's responsibility. If the problem lies within the resident's responsibility, they will be advised on the next steps.

Residents of the Town of Redwater should note and understand the costs associated with after-hours sewer auguring. Municipal Charges are if the problem is within the municipality's responsibility, the municipality will cover the cost of the service.

Residential charges are if the issue is deemed to be the resident's responsibility; the property owner will be accountable for any expenses related to the service.

The Town of Redwater Fees & Charges Bylaw and are as follows:

- Sewer Backup during regular business hours: $400.00 for each call-out
- Sewer Backup after regular business hours: $500.00 for each call out (for up to 2 hours), and then $100.00 for each subsequent hour

The Town of Redwater understands that sewer problems can often be unavoidable; however, they offer valuable recommendations to minimize the risks. Their three main tips for preventing sewer issues are proper disposal, routine maintenance, and being mindful of tree roots and their potential to invade and block sewer lines.

Even with mindful attentiveness, there are tell-tale signs that it is time to call a plumber. Residents should be on alert if they experience recurring clogs, slow drainage, foul odors, sewage backups, or water damage. Understanding individual responsibilities, knowing when to call a plumber, and understanding how after-hours services work can better prepare residents to handle sewer issues.

For more detailed information and resources, visit the Town of Redwater website or email redwater@redwater.ca.
