

Chickens galore!

By Brandie Majeau

The festivities of Newbrook Fair Days kicked off with their traditional annual parade dedicated to celebrating agriculture. This year's parade was adorned with the theme "What kind of chicken are you?" Local businesses and individual participants went all out, incorporating the theme into their colorful floats and lively costumes. The crowd was treated to a delightful display of chicken-inspired attire and comical animal performances, evoking laughter and applause throughout the procession. Adding to the excitement, a corgi also joined the parade fans, soaking in the fun atmosphere and simply enjoying the show, seemingly happy to be spared from the barnyard shenanigans.

Once again, the annual Newbrook Fair

Days brought together people of all ages for an unforgettable afternoon of fun and entertainment. The heart-pounding rodeo kept everyone on the edge of their seats, with even the youngest riders wowing the crowd with their fearless mut-ton busting skills. The Newbrook Agricultural Grounds were utterly transformed into a magical wonderland,

Egremont Days returns for its annual fun

By Brandie Majeau

The day began with the enchanting scent of sizzling bacon and brewing coffee drifting from Egremont Hall, rousing the sleepy town to life. As always, the dedicated volunteers of the Egremont Community Club were bustling about, preparing a scrumptious morning feast to kick off their highly anticipated annual event.

The morning unfolded with a dazzling exhibition lining the main streets of Egremont, of meticulously restored vintage cars, trucks, and tractors at the much-anticipated car show. The air buzzed with excitement as the spirited parade signaled the official commencement of Egremont Days, featuring a procession of whimsically decorated floats adorned with vibrant colors and imaginative themes, delighting the crowd as they were showered with an assortment of candies and treats. The festivities continued with an array of engaging activities, including lively games, creative face painting, and a plethora of egg-related fun for the young ones, while the adults reveled in lighthearted competition with an entertaining game of chicken bingo.

Egremont Days concluded with an exuberant atmosphere, featuring a delightful array of tempting aromas as dedicated volunteers tantalized attendees with the sizzle and scent of a delectable steak supper. The local community came together to savor a sumptuous BBQ dinner, served up on actual glass plates, no paper dishes would hold the massive feast. The Egremont Community Club extended a huge thank you to all those who generously supported the event, as well as the devoted volunteers whose time, hard work, and smiles contributed to the resounding success of this memorable occasion.

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Newbrook Public Library kicked off its summer programs with an exclusive armchair tourist evening on June 20. The Northern Lights Library System has themed this summer "Beyond the Beaten Path." Using that as a loose guide, librarian Tracy Woloshuniuk extended a special invitation to CFCW's Dean Thorpe, Alberta Ag Show—Weekdays 12:00 pm—1:00 pm, to share his extensive travels, offering local patrons a wonderful glimpse and privileged chance to experience the world through his captivating stories.

Dean Thorpe, a native of Melville,

Saskatchewan, started his journey in the broadcasting industry in 1986. After gaining valuable experience, he made the move west in 1995. Initially, he focused on covering general news, demonstrating his versatility. However, in 2006, he took on the role of hosting CFCW's Ag Show.

Reflecting on this career shift, Thorpe expressed that it was one of the best decisions he has ever made, second only to marrying his wife, Carolyn.

During this evening event at Newbrook Public Library, Thorpe and his wife enthralled the audience with fascinating tales, breathtaking photos, and captivating videos from their journeys to China, South Africa, Zimbabwe, Morocco, Croatia, Italy, and many other destinations around the world. Through their remarkable gift for storytelling, the Thorpe's managed to transport patrons to these distant lands, allowing them to vicariously experience the thrill of adventure and exploration. Thorpe's ability to captivate the audience created an enchanting and immersive global escape within the confines of the library. The Thorpe's emphasized to the group that travelling to another country, and experiencing a new culture gives you a very different perspective on the world.

The Newbrook Public Library sincerely appreciates Dean and Carolyn Thorpe for their enriching visit, which expanded their perspectives and transported them on a remarkable journey spanning the oceans. The library looks forward to hosting a variety of "Beyond the Beaten Path" events this upcoming summer and is currently looking for more guests to present for Armchair Tourist evenings. Please contact Newbrook Public Library if interested.

AHS camps offer youth hands-on healthcare experience

Applications are now open for Healthcare Career Exploration Days

Presented by Alberta Health Services (AHS), these one- and two-day camps give incoming Grade 9-12 students the opportunity to try different healthcare techniques, tools and skills with guidance from professionals working in the field. Participants spend the day working directly with AHS employees to learn about the many different careers that exist within the organization, including health professions, trades, IT roles and corporate positions. This is a valuable opportunity for students to interact with healthcare professionals, participate in patient simulation scenarios and get hands-on healthcare experience.

Camps run from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For the two-day camps, students would attend both days.

Approximately 250 spots are available across the province in the following locations:

- Lethbridge: Aug. 8 and 9
- Red Deer: Aug. 13
- Calgary: Aug. 14
- Edmonton: Aug. 15 and 16
- Fort McMurray: Aug. 20 and 21
- Grande Prairie: Aug. 22 and 23

The cost to attend is $40 per day, which covers lunch, snacks and learning materials. AHS understands financial constraints may pose a challenge for some students. If this fee is a barrier to your participation, please contact youth.careers@ahs.ca to apply for sponsorship.

In alignment with the spirit of reconciliation and calls to action, AHS is waiving registration fees for Indigenous students.

These camps - including an Indigenous Healthcare Career Exploration Day in Calgary - are one-way AHS is developing the next generation of healthcare workers.

Holding their own: Restaurant and bar sales in Alberta

By ATB Financial Team

The restaurant and bar sector is important in and of itself, but it also helps us assess the overall direction of the economy. If sales in the sector are on the rise, it points to a degree of consumer confidence and underlying economic momentum. If sales are sluggish or falling, it sends up a red flag.

With the numbers now in for April, we can say that monthly sales in Alberta grew by 2.0% on a seasonally-adjusted basis. The growth came, however, after a 1.9% pullback in March.

To get a better sense of the trend, it helps to look at how things are shaping up on a year-to-date basis (YTD). When we do that, sales in Alberta were up by 4.4% over the first four months of the year compared to the same period in 2023. The increase, moreover, was on top of a 17.6% YTD jump in 2023 when the sector was bouncing back from the pandemic.

Another way to look at this is sales per capita. Combining the latest quarterly population figures with quarterly revenue, we find that sales per Albertan in Q1 2024 were roughly the same as they were in Q1 2023. Compared to Q1 2022, however, they were 16.1% higher.

What does this add up to? Given the elevated inflation and higher borrowing costs that have prevailed over the last two years, the fact that restaurant and bar sales have not gone down has been a good thing for the sector (recognizing that higher sales do not necessarily mean higher net earnings as operating costs also have to be considered).

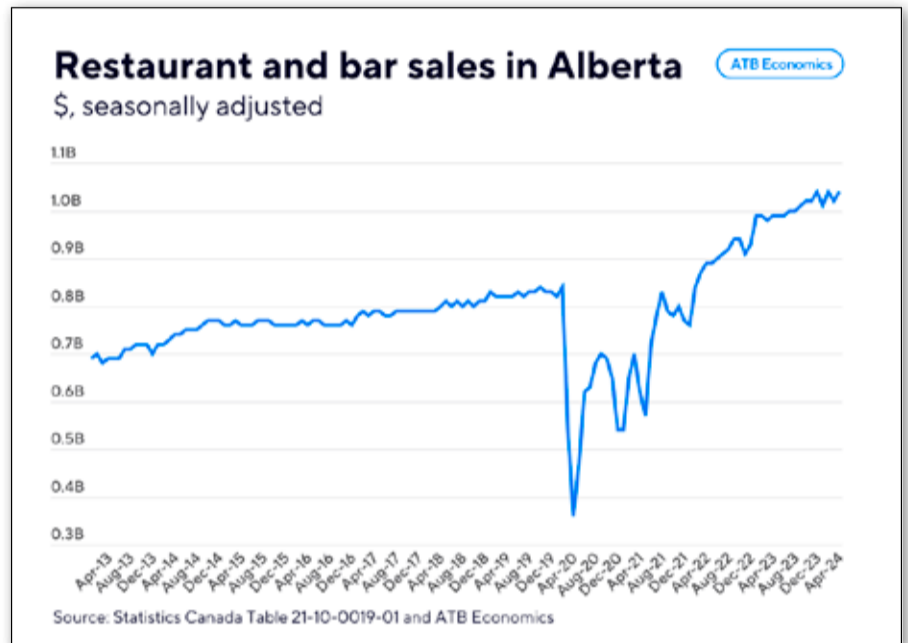

The stats also highlight the role played by resilient consumer spending in warding off the recession that seemed inevitable when interest rates started going up. Albertans are spending more, not less, at restaurants and bars than there were before inflation and interest rates shot up.

At the same time, the lack of per capita growth in the first quarter and indications that the YTD volume of sales has flattened point to consumer fatigue setting in as the lagged impact of higher borrowing costs lands on more and more households.

With this in mind, we will be carefully watching the trajectory of restaurant and bar sales to see if falling interest rates boost consumer spending as expected.

Sun Safety for Everyone

Summertime fun almost always involves getting outside and enjoying the beautiful weather. But it's important to remember to protect yourself and loved ones from the sun's potentially harmful effects.

Start off by trying to stay out of the sun during the peak hours of UV radiation, which are most intense in the morning and afternoon. These rays go right through window glass and can penetrate deeply into the skin. These rays can cause temporary and permanent skin changes, including premature aging, wrinkling, skin damage, and sometimes skin cancer. Although individuals with darker skin do not sunburn as easily, they can still get skin cancer. So, it's important to use sun protection, no matter your skin colour.

Find shade if you need to be outdoors. You can also find how much UV exposure you are getting by using the shadow rule. If your shadow is longer than you, UV exposure is low. If your shadow is shorter than you, UV exposure is high.

Protect yourself!

You can start by wearing protective clothing. This can include:

- Wide-brimmed hats that protect the face and neck
- Tightly woven clothes made of thick material, such as unbleached cotton, polyester, wool, or silk
- Dark clothes with dyes added that help absorb UV radiation
- Loose-fitting long-sleeved clothes that cover as much of the skin as possible
- Clothes with a sun protection factor (SPF) in the fabric that doesn't wash out

Sunscreen is a key element to protecting your skin, but it's important to use it year-round, both on cloudy and clear days. Wear a sunscreen with an SPF of 30 or higher every day and use sunscreen that blocks out both UVA and UVB radiation. Apply to all exposed skin, including the nose, lips, ears, scalp, back of the hands, and neck. Ensure you are applying 30 minutes before going into the sun, and re-apply every two hours and after swimming, exercising, or sweating.

Use protective lip balm or cream that has an SPF of 30 or higher to protect your lips from getting sunburned. Wear wrap-around sunglasses and choose ones that block at least 99 per cent of UVA and UVB radiation.

Be careful when you are on sand, snow, or water because these surfaces can reflect 85 per cent of the sun's rays. Avoid artificial sources of UVA radiation, including sunlamps and tanning booths which, like the sun, can cause skin damage and increase the risk of skin cancer.

Selecting the right sunscreen for you

If you can't avoid being in the sun, use a sunscreen to help protect your skin while you are in the sun.

Sunscreens come in lotions, gels, creams, ointments, and sprays.

Here's how to choose the right sunscreen:

Read the sunscreen label.

- Be sure that the sunscreen has a SPF of at least 30 or higher.
- Be sure that the sunscreen is "broad-spectrum." This type of sunscreen protects the skin from ultraviolet A and B (UVA and UVB) rays.

- Check the expiration date on the sunscreen. Do not use the sunscreen after its expiration date. The ingredients in the sunscreen may not work as they should after that date.
- Follow the directions on the label for applying the sunscreen. Doing so will make sure that the sunscreen works well to protect your skin from the sun's ultraviolet rays.

Consider your situation.

- If your skin is sensitive to skin products or you've had a skin reaction (allergic reaction) to a sunscreen, use a sunscreen that is free of chemicals, para-aminobenzoic acid (PABA), preservatives, perfumes, and alcohol.
- If you're going to have high exposure to the sun, consider using a physical sunscreen. These sunscreens, such as zinc oxide, will stop most of the sunlight from reaching the skin. They are usually thick white or coloured cream. They prevent the skin from being exposed to the sun's ultraviolet rays. They are useful for high-risk areas such as the nose, lips, and shoulders.
- If you need to use sunscreen and insect repellent with DEET, don't use a product that combines the two. You can apply sunscreen first and then apply the insect repellent with DEET. But the sunscreen must be reapplied every 2 hours.

- If you are going swimming or are sweating, use a sunscreen labelled "water-resistant." The label will say if the sunscreen protects you for 40 minutes or 80 minutes.
- Use lip balm or cream that has an SPF of 30 or higher to protect your lips from getting sunburned.

Preventing sun exposure in children

Start protecting your child from the sun when your child is a baby. Because children spend a lot of time outdoors playing, they get most of their lifetime sun exposure in their first 18 years.

Keep babies younger than 12 months out of the sun. This is the safest thing to do for young babies. Children 12 months and older can go in the sun, but they should have their skin protected from too much sun exposure. Teach children how to protect their skin from the sun. Use the "ABCs" to do this.

- A = Away. Stay away from the sun as much as possible from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Find shade if you need to be outdoors.
- B = Block. Use a sunscreen with a SPF of 30 or higher to protect babies' and children's very sensitive skin.
- C = Cover up. Have your child wear clothing that covers the skin, hats with wide brims, and sunglasses with UV protection. Even one-year-old children should wear sunglasses with UV protection.
