Thorhild Agriplex serving up a hearty breakfast

By Brandie Majeau

The Thorhild Agricultural Society has proudly opened the doors of the Agriplex for a few hours each week—specifically on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays—to cater to early risers seeking an alternative place to enjoy a delicious breakfast. This venture features a mouthwatering breakfast menu that boasts diverse offerings, including hearty breakfast sandwiches, flavorful breakfast wraps, and indulgent breakfast poutines. Megan Paly-Alexander has stepped into the agriplex kitchen and has made it come alive with the aroma of fresh ingredients and the sounds of sizzling from the grill. Customers have the option to pre-order their meals, which can be enjoyed onsite or carried as convenient take-out options. The motivation behind introducing these breakfast services stems from the Thorhild Ag Society's recognition of a community need following the closure of a local business. In response to conversations among residents expressing the desire for a place to grab an early meal, the Ag Society set out to fill this gap. Already serving breakfasts on weekends at the arena, they decided to trial weekday breakfast options, believing it could be

The Thorhild Central School Senior Boys High School Basketball team, the Bulldogs, has been making waves, carving out a distinguished reputation with each thrilling game. This remarkable collection of young athletes is fueled by an unwavering determination to sharpen their skills and elevate their performance on the court. As the 2024/25 school sports season unfolds, the Bulldogs showcase an inspiring mix of experience, with several players stepping into the gymnasium for their first taste of organized basketball. Yet, driven by passion and teamwork, they are steadily climbing the ranks towards victory. Their prowess was on full display at the WJ Kallal Memorial Cup Tournament, which took place at the Spirit Center in Westlock, AB, on January 25-26. During this intense tournament, the Bulldogs faced formidable opponents and triumphed over Living Waters with an impressive score of 93-79, conquered St. Mary's (Westlock) 73-48, and secured a nail-biting victory against Gerard Redmond (Hinton) with a score of 94-88 after a gripping overtime showdown. Eric Barto etched his name in the school's history by scoring an astounding 67 points against Living Waters. This record will be celebrated as a monumental feat for himself and Thorhild Central School. Similarly, Liam Kinshella, a determined ninth grader, showcased his clutch performance by sinking a crucial basket with just one second left on the clock in the finals, propelling the Bulldogs into overtime, where they ultimately emerged victorious. This triumph marked the first time Thorhild claimed the WJ Kallal Memorial Cup since 1998, making the win a monumental achievement and a source of immense pride for the team and the school alike. Head Coach Alex Purin remarked, "Winning this tournament was a testament to the many hours the guys have put into their skills. This team represented themselves and their school with pride and integrity. I am incredibly proud of their achievement and their dedication this season. We look forward to what lies ahead." Facing more challenges ahead, their team motto "Nobody works like we do" resonates in their minds. The Thorhild Central School Senior Boys High School Basketball team remains focused and driven. The Bulldogs have their sights set on conquering the zones in March, with the ultimate goal of advancing to the provincials, as they continue to write their remarkable story on the court.

Community cookbook a tribute to local seniors

By Brandie Majeau

During a recent conversational brainstorming session, Thorhild County Family and Community Support Services (FCSS) engaged in a heartfelt reflection on the nostalgia of community and not-for-profit cookbooks that have long held a cherished place in local culture. Kelly Patry, the Manager of Community Services, shared a poignant memory of creating a personal cookbook in honor of her mother, who bravely battled cancer until her passing. This experience underscored the idea that recipes do more than simply list ingredients and cooking methods; they serve as narratives that reveal the essence of a person's identity and offer intimate glimpses into their lives.

Inspired by these sentiments, the Community Recipe Book initiative was born.

Thorhild County FCSS is thrilled to invite all current and former seniors of Thorhild County to contribute a cherished family recipe that holds special significance.

Participants are encouraged to include a backstory for each recipe, sharing details such as how long the recipe has been a family tradition, anecdotes like "My grandmother always made this dish on Sundays," or insights into why the dish holds a special place in their hearts. This initiative aims to honor our senior residents, celebrating their culinary contributions and the rich history they've built within the community.

In addition to these treasured recipes, the cookbook will incorporate valuable information, such as local contact numbers for health services, emergency services, and other essential resources, ensuring it serves as a practical guide for all community members. Each printed volume will stand as a tribute to the culinary skills of our seniors, as well as their vital role in shaping the fabric of our community. The ultimate goal is to have the cookbooks completed and ready for distribution in time for Seniors Week, celebrated in June.

To submit recipes, either individually or on behalf of seniors currently residing in Thorhild County or those who once called it home, please send your submissions to Kelly Patry's email at kelly.patry@thorhild-county.com or mail them to Community Recipe Book, PO Box 10, Thorhild, AB, T0A 3J0 by the deadline of March 31, 2025. Be sure to include your contact information in case there are any questions.

Additionally, please stay tuned for announcements regarding in-person drop-off dates and times for submissions.

Your stories and recipes will contribute to a collective celebration of our senior community's culinary heritage.

astigmatism, and other vision-related concerns early on.

According to the Lions Club Resource page, an impressive statistic reveals that 80% of all visual impairments can be either prevented or treated, underscoring the importance of awareness and timely intervention. The process begins with raising awareness of vision issues, followed by early detection through dedicated screening programs. Worldwide, Lions Clubs team up with medical professionals and community leaders to facilitate vision screenings, continually working to alert families to those at risk. Early identification is crucial as it enables timely referrals for professional treatment, significantly improving or even restoring sight for many children.

This free vision screening event caters to children aged 6 months to 12 years and took place on January 31 at the Redwater Public Library. For those who were unable to attend the initial screening, there is a second opportunity to participate on February 8, once again at the Redwater Library. They welcome all parents and guardians to take advantage of this valuable service, ensuring their children have the best possible start in maintaining their visual health.

Redwater RCMP encourages rural residents to strengthen community safety through Rural Crime Watch

Redwater, Alta. – The Alberta RCMP, in partnership with the Alberta Provincial Rural Crime Watch Association, is encouraging residents in ranching, farming, and rural communities to join their local Rural Crime Watch group or consider forming a chapter in their area.

Established in 1978, the Rural Crime Watch program has grown into a vital voluntary initiative that fosters collaboration between rural residents and their local RCMP detachments. Its mission is to promote crime prevention through awareness, education, and proactive reporting of suspicious activity. The Alberta RCMP continues to work with community partners, such as Rural Crime Watch (RCW) and Citizens on Patrol (COP), to promote crime prevention awareness in communities throughout the province. RCW and COP volunteers support the Crime Reduction Strategy by acting as an extra set of “eyes and ears” in their communities.

Across Alberta, Rural Crime Watch associations are focusing their efforts on farmstead, acreage, and rural property security, as well as property identification and general crime awareness. Programs like Report a Poacher further extend the impact of the initiative, contributing to both rural safety and environmental stewardship.

Communities with active Rural Crime Watch groups often display signage at entry points, signaling their collective commitment to crime prevention. These signs not only deter potential criminals but also reflect the strong partnerships between local residents and law enforcement.

For more information on how to join or establish a Rural Crime Watch group in your area, visit www.ruralcrimewatch.ab.ca a valuable addition to the community.

In an expansion of their offerings, Mondays have also introduced a lunch service inspired by the same community feedback. The Ag Society identified a perfect opportunity to extend its existing menu and offer additional rotating meal options into lunchtime, providing a much-needed dining option for those looking for a quick meal on Mondays.

With recent renovations to its facilities, the Thorhild Agricultural Society is more positioned than ever to serve the community effectively. As a not-for-profit organization, its mission remains focused on improving local programs and facilities. All profits generated from these breakfast and lunch services are reinvested into the operations of the arena, ensuring that they can continuously improve and expand their offerings.

In the opening weeks of this new venture, the Ag Society has experienced enthusiastic support from the community, which they hope will sustain as they continue to provide both Monday/Wednesday/Friday breakfasts and Monday lunch options. The overwhelmingly positive response they have received from the community has been a wonderful indication of support for the new ambition. This enthusiasm not only reflects the local interest but also serves as a hopeful indication that the meal service will thrive and continue to benefit both Thorhild County and the Agricultural Society for a long time to come.
