By Brandie Majeau

The Community Dance Collective proudly opened its doors to aspiring dancers in June 2024, marking an exciting new chapter in the little town of Waskatenau. Since then, the studio has enjoyed a dynamic and fulfilling first dance season, culminating in a remarkable performance at the Showcase Dance Festival held in Sherwood Park. The competitive team, comprising 47 talented dancers, displayed their extraordinary skills across various dance disciplines and returned home with an impressive collection of overall awards.

Among their accolades was the Overall Highest Mark for competitive ballet, which highlighted the dancers' technical precision and artistic expression. They also earned the Runner-Up Highest Mark for their competitive lyrical/contemporary group performance, demonstrating their versatility and creativity. In hip hop,

Brenda Robinson set to celebrate intergenerational challenges

By Brandie Majeau

Brenda Robinson is set to make her much-anticipated return to the town of Thorhild on April 7, 2025, after nearly two years away. Renowned for her infectious enthusiasm and engaging speaking style, Brenda combines humor with a profound passion for lifelong learning in her presentations. Attendees at her previous seminar left feeling inspired, uplifted, and energized, with palpable positivity lingering in the air as they departed.

This time, Brenda will again be presenting at the Thorhild Golden Age Drop-In Centre. She will host her insightful seminar "Celebrating the Intergenerational Challenge: Differences are not Difficulties." This informative session is designed to educate volunteers by encouraging a deeper understanding of the diverse perspectives and unique capabilities that each generation contributes to our community.

The seminar will emphasize the critical importance of bridging generational gaps and recognizing how the world has evolved over the years. By addressing the underlying motivations that inspire younger individuals to engage in community activities, Brenda will provide attendees with effective strategies to encourage their participation while also

H.A.Kostash gets pi-ed up!

By Brandie Majeau

Pi Day is an intellectual annual celebration dedicated to the fascinating mathematical constant  $\pi$  (pi). Observed on March 14th (3/14), this day holds special significance as the digits 3, 1, and 4 represent the initial values of  $\pi$ . The first ever Pi Day was organized in 1988 by the imaginative and passionate physicist Larry Shaw at the Exploratorium, a science museum located in San Francisco. Shaw and his enthusiastic colleagues commemorated this day by blithely marching around one of the museum's circular spaces, eating fruit pies as their procession made its way around the space.

Over the years, Pi Day has blossomed into a fun tradition especially in academic settings. It gained nationwide recognition when, in 2009, the United States House of Representatives passed a resolution declaring March 14th as National Pi Day. The celebration reached new heights in 2019 when UNESCO's 40th General Conference officially defined Pi Day as the International Day of Mathematics.

Typically, Pi Day is filled with engaging activities that captivate math lovers and students alike, including spirited pie-eating contests, thrilling competitions to recite the digits of  $\pi$ , and thought-provoking discussions about the profound implications of  $\pi$  in the world of mathematics. Adding to its significance, this day also marks the birthday of the brilliant Albert Einstein, stirring further excitement for those passionate about math and science. At H.A. Kostash, the celebration of Pi Day was infused with creativity and school spirit, reflecting the unique twist that many schools often add to this occasion.

Students eagerly lined up, laughing as they took turns launching pies at their faculty members—a playful retaliation for a year's worth of homework, perhaps? A heartfelt thank you goes out to the dedicated staff, enthusiastic students, and even the local RCMP officers who participated. Whether purchasing a plate of pies, encouraging the throwers with cheers, or bravely standing in as targets for the mischievous students, everyone contributed to a wonderfully fun lunch hour that was not only entertaining but also played an essential role in supporting a great fundraising activity organized by the H.A. Kostash Student's Union.

Thorhild Bulldogs Senior High Boys Basketball Team takes home bronze in zones finals.

By Brandie Majeau

The Thorhild Central School Senior Boys High School Basketball team, the Bulldogs, has been making waves, carving out a distinguished reputation with each thrilling game. This remarkable collection of young athletes is fueled by an unwavering determination to sharpen their skills and elevate their performance on the court. As the 2024/25 school sports season unfolds, the Bulldogs showcase an inspiring mix of experience, with several players stepping into the gymnasium for their first taste of organized basketball. Yet, driven by passion and teamwork, they are steadily climbing the ranks towards victory. Their prowess was on full display at the WJ Kallal Memorial Cup Tournament, which took place at the Spirit Center in Westlock, AB, on January 25-26. During this intense tournament, the Bulldogs faced formidable opponents and triumphed over Living Waters with an impressive score of 93-79, conquered St. Mary's (Westlock) 73-48, and secured a nail-biting victory against Gerard Redmond (Hinton) with a score of 94-88 after a gripping overtime showdown. Eric Barto etched his name in the school's history by scoring an astounding 67 points against Living Waters. This record will be celebrated as a monumental feat for himself and Thorhild Central School.

 Similarly, Liam Kinshella, a determined ninth grader, showcased his clutch performance by sinking a crucial basket with just one second left on the clock in the finals, propelling the Bulldogs into overtime, where they ultimately emerged victorious. This triumph marked the first time Thorhild claimed the WJ Kallal Memorial Cup since 1998, making the win a monumental achievement and a source of immense pride for the team and the school alike. Head Coach Alex Purin remarked, "Winning this tournament was a testament to the many hours the guys have put into their skills. This team represented themselves and their school with pride and integrity. I am incredibly proud of their achievement and their dedication this season. We look forward to what lies ahead." Facing more challenges ahead, their team motto "Nobody works like we do" resonates in their minds. The Thorhild Central School Senior Boys High School Basketball team remains focused and driven. The Bulldogs have their sights set on conquering the zones in March, with the ultimate goal of advancing to the provincials, as they continue to write their remarkable story on the court.

Town of Redwater and Sturgeon County offer Rain Barrel Program

"Differences are not Difficulties" will take place at 6:30 PM on April 7, 2025.

Attendance is free, but guests are kindly requested to preregister to facilitate adequate planning for the event. Preregistration can be completed by emailing diana.berry@thorhildcounty.com or calling 780-398-3741 ext 2810. This advance notice will greatly assist in making the necessary arrangements to accommodate all participants. Don't miss this valuable opportunity to engage in a meaningful conversation and learn how to encourage intergenerational understanding and collaboration within the community!

Summarizing a previous promotion of Brenda Robinson, "Differences are not Difficulties" she asks the questions: What about the new generations? What inspires younger people to collaborate with the older generation? Is this new era challenging, or is it simply a diverse landscape of thought and action? Working together flourishes when individuals commit to it! Diversity is strength. Embracing differences can lead to better decision-making and enriched processes. Celebrating these differences fuels the excitement and energy in working together.

H.A. Kostash School News

H.A Kostash's grade 4 class created spring placemats and wind streamers for their friends at the auxiliary!

By Haylee Winger

The annual Lemonade Day event, a free educational initiative designed to teach youth about entrepreneurship, is set to take place on June 14, 2025. This hands-on program empowers children to start, own, and operate their own lemonade stands, providing them with valuable skills in business management, financial literacy, and community engagement.

Lemonade Day, originally launched in 2007 in Houston, Texas, has grown significantly over the years, reaching over 1.5 million children across 90 communities in the United States, Canada, and beyond. In Northern Alberta, the program has seen remarkable success since its introduction in 2018. Since then, Lemonade Day participants have generated more than $144,900 in profit and donated over $43,800 to local charities. In 2024 alone, over 1,300 kids took part in the event.

Amanda Robinson, Marketing Analyst for Community Futures and City Director for Lemonade Day in Northern Alberta, highlighted the growth of the program. “We have more towns participating for Lemonade Day 2025 than ever before,” Robinson said. “Lemonade Day is about so much more than selling lemonade and making money. The kids learn business skills and learn about their communities and the importance of giving back.”

The program encourages participants to spend, save, and share their profits. In 2024, 93% of participants donated a portion of their earnings to charities, reinforcing the program’s emphasis on community responsibility.

What makes Lemonade Day truly stand out, according to Robinson, is its inclusivity. “What I love most about the program is that it is open to kids of all abilities,” she explained. It gives kids a chance to showcase their strengths in so many areas because it includes a bit of everything. Math skills, art skills, customer service skills and so much more.”

Lemonade Day Northern Alberta is open to children from kindergarten through high school. Registration for the 2025 event is now open, with the deadline set for May 15, 2025. Upon registering, participants will receive a free backpack and an Entrepreneur Workbook at Lemmy University, which will guide them through the steps of planning, managing, and operating their business. The program focuses on goal setting, financial planning, and entrepreneurship, equipping young participants with essential skills for both business and life.

Robinson also noted the ever-growing creativity and dedication shown by participants each year.

“Every year, Lemonade Day gets bigger and better. The stands become more elaborate, and the kids continue to amaze me with their dedication and creativity. It truly is an event the whole community can get involved in and enjoy.”

As Lemonade Day continues to grow, it remains a valuable opportunity for youth in Northern Alberta to gain real-world business experience, develop essential skills, and contribute to their communities. On June 14, 2025, young entrepreneurs across the region will once again take part in this exciting event, showcasing their hard work and creativity. With the support of local businesses and families, Lemonade Day promises to inspire the next generation of leaders, business owners, and community advocates. For more information or to register, visit <https://lemonadeday.org/northern-alberta> before the May 15 deadline.
